The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

GEN. EISENHOWER has rendered the German people a great service in warning them to safeguard their resources against the scorched-earth policy of the retreating Nazi army, since they can't count on food, fuel or clothing from the Allied military government.

The general points out that our aid will primarily go to the population of the countries which have been ravaged and plundered by the German public, but should preclude any such misapprehension and assure as existed in the reich after the last war, when the Allies were expected to pour supplies into the country the moment the armistice was effective.

I went into the Rhineland with the British army of occupation and it was this day (Dec. 9, 1918, that we took up our position in the great city of Cologne, towards which Allied forces at this moment are driving again. We war correspondents shortly were received by the burgomaster—a high and mighty, square-headed Prussian of that super-race type which instantly inspires thoughts of manslaughter.

This arrogant heel received us in a great, oak-wainscoted room and had us seated about a long table. He presided at the head in an ornate chair with a throne-like back, behind which stood an obsequious fop who served as secretary. We had no more than sat down when the burgomaster demanded in angry guttural:

"Why have not the allies sent us food and clothing? I will not be responsible for the attitude of my people towards your troops if we don't get supplies immediately."

It was a clear threat of an uprising by the Germans against the armies of occupation. Having uttered it, his highness glowered about the table and awaited his answer. His glance fell on me, and I got up.

"Mr. Burgomaster," I said, "the answer is that the Allies are too much occupied with trying to bring relief to the suffering peoples in the areas of Belgium and France devastated by the German armies."

The couple married the longest. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hawkins of Kensington, married 58 years; Mr. A. E. Swearingen, Hanover, 55 years; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stackhouse of Kensington, 48 years.

Poster awards, eighth grade, Carl Stout of New Garden; Donald Wilson, New Garden; fifth and sixth grades, Donald Wilson, New Garden; Donald Leutenhiser, Kensington, and Russell Votaw of New Garden.

Speakers for the programs were Mrs. C. E. Duff of North Canton and Charles Peters of Minerva.

Music was presented by a chorus of Augusta High school students and songs were directed by Jack Klein of Winona.

Bill To Create Eight Five-Star Commanders

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—A bill to create eight wartime five-star Army and Navy commanders, equal in rank to British field marshals, has passed the house.

The bill provides four appointments each of "general of the army" and "admiral of the fleet," for the war's duration.

Vinson, "merely guessing," predicted the jobs would go to these men:

For the Army: Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff; Gen. H. H. Arnold, head of the Air Force; Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, all four-star generals.

For the Navy: Adm. William D. Leahy, the President's chief of staff; Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the Navy; Adm. Chester Nimitz and Adm. William F. Halsey.

Potsdam Youth Named 4-H Garden Champion

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Donald F. Sullivan, 19, of Potsdam, N. Y., whose first garden 10 years ago yielded six dollars worth of vegetables, was named today the nation's champion junior vegetable grower and marketer.

Sullivan, who won the title and $500 in the fourth annual national junior vegetable growers' 44-state competition, won the national boys' 4-H leadership title at the 4-H club congress in Chicago Monday. His third and a half-acre project this year yielded $911 worth of vegetables.

Charles Halin, Berlin Heights, O., was elected vice president of the association last night.

BLAST JAPS AT TWO JIMA FROM SEA AND AIR

Coordinated Attack Diminishes Threat to U. S. B-29 Bases

(By Associated Press)
U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 9.—Two Jima's threat to the American Superfortress base at Saipan was considerably diminished today after a thorough co-ordinated pounding by warships and perhaps the biggest land-based air fleet ever used against an island target in the Pacific war.

Scores of Superfortresses and 108 four-engine Liberators, flying under a shield of 30 Lightning fighters, poured a fearsome load of bombs yesterday on the Japanese base in the Bonin islands, while warships sent destructive salvos ashore in the first combined action of its kind.

Six Japanese planes took the air to intercept. Five were shot down and the sixth was damaged.

Clear B-29 Route

The crushing blow on the island only eight square miles in size, 750 miles south of Tokyo, served to clear the B-29 bombing route between Saipan and the Nippon capital, and to knock out for the time being the enemy's takeoff point for raids on Saipan.

In announcing the mighty assault yesterday Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed also that Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon was the new commander of Strategic Air Forces, Pacific ocean areas. Harmon is deputy commander of the 20th Air Force which has charge of all B-29 operations.

Nimitz said a "sizeable" force of B-29s participated in the raid. Each Superfort could carry 10 tons of bombs on such a mission, and the Liberators could pack at least two tons. In the past official counts the use of "sizeable" force by Nimitz has meant 75 to 100 planes.

The absence of anti-aircraft fire against the Superfortresses to fly low enough to make their precision bombing deadly accurate. Most of the bombs were concentrated on the main airfield at the south end.

Even should the Japanese manage to put the installations back into service, they could be neutralized indefinitely by routine air strikes.

Other raids announced by Adm. Nimitz included an 11th Air Force strike on Paramushiro in the northern Kuriles Wednesday. The same day, Marine fighters strafed installations on Babelthuap in the Palau Islands.

PRANKSTERS BRING FAMILY FBI VISIT

Pranksters, adept with a brush and green paint, nearly involved the F. W. Heaton family of Orlando, Fla., formerly of Salem, in some serious difficulty with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

According to word received here by friends of the Heaton family, some neighborhood pranksters in the Florida city cluttered up a water tank and the front of the house on the British field marshals, has passed the house.

The bill provides four appointments each of "general of the army" and "admiral of the fleet," for the war's duration.

Vinson, "merely guessing," predicted the jobs would go to these men:

For the Army: Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff; Gen. H. H. Arnold, head of the Air Force; Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, all four-star generals.

OPEN TERRITORIES IN BOND CAMPAIGN

From now on everyone is a salesman in the Sixth War Loan drive. That's the word from campaign officials this morning as plans for the final week of the drive to sell $2,022,000 in bonds are completed.

"If you haven't been approached by a bond salesman so far in this campaign, feel free now to purchase that extra $100 bond at any place you wish. Residential sections and the downtown territories are now open to all salesmen," Chairman E. M. Stephenson said.

Sales yesterday boosted total sales to nearly half the goal. Salemites purchased $82,600 in bonds yesterday, of which $17,400 was in E bonds. To date there have been 4,891 individual purchases made, 4,769 of which are E bond purchases. The E total sales are now $210,778.50 towards the goal of $451,500.

New Waterford First To Top Bond Goal

New Waterford has crashed through again to take top honors in the Sixth War Loan drive.

With an over-all quota of $133,480, the village southeast of Salem reported sales last night totaling $135,612 making it the first community in Columbiana county to reach or exceed its quota.

Chairman William Ferguson, in announcing this record, said his workers have not completed their rounds in soliciting E bond sales. When this work is completed, he feels certain the E bond quota of $30,100 will be met. Sales of this denomination to date total $23,300.

New Waterford passed its overall goal while other cities and towns are struggling to reach the half-way mark.

REDS ADVANCE ON BUDAPEST

Reach Danube To North. Threatening Encirclement of Germans

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Dec. 9.—The Berlin radio said today the Germans have lost the town of Vac 15 miles north-east of Budapest on the Danube, after hard fighting.

Asserting the Russians had thrown in fresh reinforcements in the battle for Budapest, Transocean said German lines "had to be taken back several miles east of the capital."

"From their penetration north of Budapest," the news agency said, "the Soviets increased their pressure southwards on Budapest, at the same time attacking the north." The broadcast said the Russians were not attempting to cross the Danube at Vac, but had turned south.

Previously Berlin had announced that the Russians slashing westward from Captured Hatvan had captured the railroad town of Aszod, 15 miles northeast of Budapest.

Capture of Vac would seal off Budapest from the north. The town stands on the big bend of the Danube where the river turns west toward Vienna.

The hard-driving Russian armies were closing in on Budapest like a vise amid Moscow reports of wholesale defections by Hungarians from the defending forces.

The city already was under heavy pressure from Russian forces on the west bank of the Danube less than 13 miles south of the city.

Berlin also said units of the Second and Third Ukrainian armies had linked up on the west bank of the Danube at Ercsi, 13 miles south of Budapest following a crossing by Malinovsky's troops from Csepel, the narrow island that splits the Danube for 39 miles south of the capital.

A supplement communiqué stressed that Hungarian units fighting with the Nazi defenders of Budapest and western Hungary were giving up in great numbers in the face of a situation their commanders acknowledged was "hopeless."

A Soviet bulletin said an entire Hungarian infantry regiment comprising 29 officers and 1,390 men surrendered as a unit on the Danube front. The bulletin said 1,500 Germans and Hungarians were killed yesterday on the front west of the Danube.

Coroner-Elect Sturgis Heads State Association

Fear Several Are Killed In Powder Plant Blast

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 9.—A large explosion of the Hercules Powder plant at Hercules north of here at about 8:30 a. m. today shook buildings for miles around, and was felt as far south as this city. Details were not immediately available.

An employee in the office of the Hercules powder plant said it appeared the main field magazine had exploded, but that he had had no word of any fatalities so far.

Many workers in the buildings were cut by flying glass by broken windows, however, and a call was sent for ambulances.

At the yard gate, a guard told newsmen he had heard three men on duty near the magazine were killed.

Congress Hopes President Will Approve Tax Freeze

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Fingers crossed, congress looked hopefully to the White House today for speedy action on a controversial bill freezing the social security payroll tax at one per cent.

If President Roosevelt vetoes the measure in the face of thumping senate and house majorities, legislators hope he'll do it without undue delay so they can vote on overriding and still get home for Christmas.

After the bill reaches his desk, the President has 10 days in which to sign or veto it, not counting Sundays. If he fails to act within that limit, the bill becomes law provided congress hasn't adjourned. In that case he could kill it, if he chose, by doing nothing.

Lawmakers who want to prevent an otherwise automatic doubling of the tax on Jan. 1 are prepared, if necessary, to recess over Christmas and come back just before the new session begins Jan. 3.

A two-thirds vote is required to override a veto—the senate ran up considerably better than that ratio yesterday when it approved the measure 47 to 19. The house vote was even larger—262 to 72 on last Monday's roll call.

22 County Veterans Of Present Conflict Inducted By Legion

Salem Legionnaires conducted the induction of 22 World War II veterans, including six from Salem, as American Legion members at a meeting of county council last night at Leetonia. Approximately 90 members from the county posts were present.

The Salem initiates included James Wright, Reber Heacock, William H. Shoop, Joseph Schmidt, John Rosen and James Helman.

Initiation was conducted by Past Commander Everett J. Rich, assisted by Commander Lee Hollinger, Past Commanders Don Mayhew and Milton Critchfield, with County Service Officer Wallace King of Lisbon as sergeant-at-arms.

A resolution drawn up by Milton Critchfield, expressing the Legion's proposal that V-day be observed as a day of prayer and work, rather than as a day of celebration, was adopted by the council.

The next county council session will be held at Lisbon June 12. Legionnaires and all veterans of World War II interested in the "GI Bill of Rights" have been invited to attend a meeting at the VFW hall in Canton Sunday afternoon to hear its provisions and benefits explained by national speakers. For transportation, those attending are asked to meet at the Legion home at noon Sunday.

ELECTRIC FURNACE MEN REJECT CIO

Production and maintenance workers at the Electric Furnace Co. yesterday voted 74-64 against being represented by the CIO and, consequently, will continue to deal directly with the company officials, it was disclosed today following an official vote taken yesterday afternoon.

The election, authorized by the National Labor Relations board, was conducted among production and maintenance workers at the plant.

The Electric Furnace employees are the second local group this week to vote against CIO representation. Deming Co. employees Wednesday refused to deal through the union, voting 348 to 246 against it.

ATHENS CLEAN-UP IS CONTINUED BY BRITISH FORCES

BY STEPHEN BARBER

ATHENS, Dec. 9.—A rift developed today among leaders of the seven-party EAM coalition as the British announced that one-fifth of Athens had been cleared of armed bands.

Gen. Stephanos Serafis, commander-in-chief of the EAM, was reported to have assured Maj. Gen. R. M. Scobie, head of British and Allied troops in Greece, that he was remaining under the latter's command.

Former Transport Minister Askoutsis, one of six Leftists who resigned in the dispute over disarmament of the EAM's military formations, from the cabinet of Premier George Papandreou, said in an interview that he, Former Finance Minister Svolos and Finance Undersecretary Angelopoulos "never belonged to the EAM." They previously had been identified with the right wing of the EAM.

The liberal section of the EAM headed by Former National Economy Minister Elias Tsimirikos also was reported to be breaking away.

"Our role," said Askoutsis, "has been one of reconciliation and compromise. However, since Greek affairs have been complicated and wound up in civil war we have stated to both sides we cannot take part in a strife the results of which would be disastrous for the country. We now are striving as mediators with a view of finding some possible means of negotiations."

Although about 20 per cent of the city was cleared of EAM bands, heavy concentrations on Leftist militia were reported north of the capital after a march from the provinces.

The EAM within the city were reported to consist of about 250 "death or glory" members of inner Communist cells. There are about 25 of these cells, each with its own headquarters, scattered over the capital and suburbs.

These die-hards were still sniping in the uncleared sections of the city.

A force estimated at between 800 and 1,200 men was said to be besieging a Greek mountain brigade stationed in a barracks to the northeast. Heavy sniping fire was reported.

The Cairo radio said last night word had been received from Athens that a member of the Leftist EAM had met a Greek government representative to discuss cessation of fighting.)

MAKE 'BUZZ BOMBS' AT TOLEDO PLANT

TOLEDO, Dec. 9.—Improved versions of the dread Nazi V-1 "buzz bomb" are rolling off production lines in the Willys-Overland motors plant, says President Charles E. Sorensen.

"Mass Production was started 60 days after receipt of contract," the Willys executive reported.

The aerial bomb, Sorensen said, has a 27-foot fuselage with a wing span of 17 feet. The fore section, he added, houses the war head, magnetic compass, gyro equipment and a timing device which throws the ship into a spin over the target.

"Gasoline tanks which give the plane a range of about 150 miles are amidships. Compressed air bottles and master control equipment occupy the aft section. A rear wing and tail assembly complete the structure."

The fuselage is 33 inches in diameter at its greatest width. Aluminum is used in the nose, elevators and rudder. Without its explosive charge, the unit weighs 2,500 pounds.

Thespians of Salem High Will Present Play Twice

Salem High school Thespians, dramatics organization, will present a one-act Christmas play, "Christmas Trimmings," at a meeting of the Book club Monday at the library assembly room and for the high school assembly Wednesday, Dec. 20.

Directed by Mary Lou Mason and James Cope, the cast includes Juanita Whaley, William Byers, Don Shoop, Catherine Scullion, Mary Mae Votaw, Joseph Kupka, Jeanne Walsh, Thomas Williams, Pat Loutzenhiser, Mary Lou Vincent.

Mrs. Lausche, Ill. Can't Inspect New Residence

COLUMBUS, Dec. 9.—A siege of bronchitis prevented Mrs. Frank J. Lausche from inspecting her new home—the governor's mansion—this week.

Mrs. John W. Bricker, wife of the retiring executive, invited Mrs. Lausche, whose husband becomes governor Jan. 8, to come here from Cleveland and get an intimate look at the huge brick home on E. Broad street.

But Mrs. Lausche, stricken with throat ailment, couldn't make it, so the ladies will get together in the very near future and talk house-keeping.

THIRD ARMY DRIVES INTO SAAR SECTOR

Enemy Losses In Opening Of Winter Offensive Equals 17 Divisions

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 9.—The U. S. Third army stabbed a half mile to a mile deeper beyond the Saar today while at Supreme headquarters it was estimated the Germans lost 152,000 men in the first three weeks of the winter offensive.

At present strength, that toll is equal to 17 enemy divisions.

The attrition rate of 6,000 Germans a day from Nov. 8 to Nov. 30 represents destruction of almost one-fourth of the 73 divisions which authoritative French sources had estimated earlier this week as the total German strength on the western front.

It was learned at Supreme headquarters that seven German divisions are regarded as utterly destroyed—meaning they are no longer appearing in any form on the battlefield—and 22 others, four of them armored or armored grenadiers—are "very severely battered."

Of the 152,000 German casualties, 84,000 have been taken prisoner, the rest killed or permanently put out of action.

Some of the divisions wiped out—the 47th, 48th, 91st, 274th, 338th—have been counted as destroyed once before in the six months since the invasion, but were reformed from reserves and sent back to action.

House-To-House Fighting

Third army men were fighting house-to-house in the eastern part of Sarreguemines after one of the new crossings of the Saar.

The Third army was beating against eight Saar valley steel towns smoldering from fighter-bomber attacks, and field guns ripped the provincial capital, city of Saarbrücken.

Within a couple of miles of Saarbrücken, but Supreme headquarters had no confirmation of reports that the city's outskirts had been reached.

Above Saarbrücken their comrades repulsed a strong German counter-attack and then seized 12 more pill-boxes in the Siegfried line.

Further south the Nazis' last Alsatian stand was cracking up, and divebombers gouged at the Neuf Brisach escape bridge over the Rhine near Colmar.

On the northern flank of the long Allied front, both sides maintained thunderous artillery fire, but a relative lull in ground activity suggested the American First and Ninth armies were gathering strength to smash the east German hopes of holding along the flooded Roer river before Cologne.

PROGRAM IS HELD BY GOSHEN GRANGE

When Goshen grange met Friday evening, the men had charge of the lecture hour program, with Bert Schaeffer as master of ceremonies.

The music was in charge of the Musical Varieties Entertainers, under the direction of Frank J. Yengling. Solos, duets and ensemble numbers were given by Walter Regal, violinist; Miss Ann Helm, pianist; Thomas Holzbach, trombone; William Scullion, trumpet, and Calvin Critchfield, flute. Ernest Kamper, L. C. Starbuck, Howard Stille and William Miskimins took part in the program, and an "Ohio Quiz" was conducted by Bert Schaeffer. Lunch was served.

The grange will hold its Christmas party Dec. 21 with a treat for the juveniles and a gift exchange and program.

Tuesday evening, Dec. 12 the ladies of Goshen grange will serve a banquet for the ladies of the American Legion auxiliary, and Wednesday evening, Dec. 13, the Salem Trades class will banquet at the hall.

150 End Walkout

MARTINS FERRY, Dec. 9.—Approximately 150 striking employees of the Riverside Steel Co. here returned to their jobs pending settlement of grievances with the company.

The walkout Wednesday was precipitated by company refusal to settle grievances, chief of which was an upward adjustment of wages of several employees, H. C. Cornwell, president of the Martins Ferry local of the International Association of Bridge Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers, said.

Stock-Taking In December, 1944

If the military supply situation is as serious as appointive officials of the government say it is, President Roosevelt should eat his campaign speeches and start talking turkey.

Otherwise, the public—to which the appointive officials are appealing for greater effort—will continue to be confronted by the discrepancy between what it lately has been told by Mr. Roosevelt and what it now is being told by his administrative assistants.

This is a gravely serious situation, serious not only because of the problems of war production but equally serious because of its effect on confidence in the management of the whole war effort.

Unless the Roosevelt administration can assert dynamic and cogent leadership to overcome what its spokesmen now are speaking of as a major emergency, there will be widespread repercussions on confidence in its ability to direct not only the remainder of the war, but on its ability to coordinate plans and efforts for the post-war period.

The stock-taking that its own officials are doing in December, 1944, and are urging the country to do is so startlingly at odds with the report it was giving the people just preceding the election that there can be no easy explanation for the discrepancy. Either the election claims were false, or today's claims are distorted.

The latter assumption is, under the circumstances, impossible, because it impugns the military integrity and personal honesty of too many persons. Gen. Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Secretary of War Stimson are not men who speak to any purpose but the prosecution of the war.

In the performance of their duty, therefore, they deserve the utmost backing from Mr. Roosevelt as commander-in-chief of the armed forces; he was re-elected largely on his claim of being able to conduct the war satisfactorily.

Presumably, this will be done in the near future. Presumably, as commander-in-chief, Mr. Roosevelt will propose and put into effect tangible measures to overcome the deficiencies which his spokesmen warn may lengthen the war and cause the needless sacrifice of American lives.

Certainly the job cannot be done by exhortations broadcast to the public at large. The public is not in possession of the statistics of production or production schedules. War is waged under federal direction and authority.

To continue to tell the public that production is falling below requirements and to urge the public to do something about it is to deny the realities of war production. Likewise, to make such threats as Gen. Somervell recently has made, in speaking of national conscription as the alternative to the existing arrangement of voluntary labor when nothing tangible is being done to improve the existing arrangement is to insult the people's motives and intelligence.

Mr. Roosevelt has won responsibility for conducting the government and prosecuting the war for four more years. He asked for that responsibility, now he should do something about it to erase a growing public impression that men at the appointive level are trying to deal with a crisis which deserves the full attention of their commander-in-chief.

The Thought Nobody Thinks

Close followers of the opinion sampling method of finding out what is safe and unsafe to think now know as a result of a recent Gallup poll that the public "thinks" the average family of four needs a weekly income of $48 to live in health and comfort. That is the median average of all replies. Median means middle; a median average is presumably the average of what persons between the extremes think.

It is not, therefore, what anyone really thinks. Obviously, labor union members not only will not accept $48 as a proper weekly wage, but will not accept any wage, except one properly adjusted to the cost of living. To say, or even to seem to say, that the average American family thinks a certain sum is adequate is simply to declare a thought that nobody thinks. It is as foolish as to believe that because the average weight of a 30-year-old woman who is five feet tall is 127 pounds that all women who are five feet tall and 30 years old should be conscious of some disparity, when the fact is that perhaps not one woman in the United States may fit the average—and that one would be dissatisfied. Until the general public understands the fallacy of averages, every purported statement of fact dealing with them should be accompanied by the explanation that such statistical curiosities bears no relation whatever to human existence.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, December 10.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a rather strange and intriguing one, in which spiritual, intellectual or romantic affairs overrule all other forms of activity. These, however, may have undertones of peculiar, curious and disturbing factors, with erratic, exotic or irregular aspects, wherein difficulties and dangers of a most unpredictable sort predominate. Be on guard against all. Shun all unique doings.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a strange and peculiar year in which undercurrents of the weird, unique or mysterious hold sway. Intimate contacts seem peculiarly intriguing, with strange dangers and menaces, unless most determined effort at normalcy be maintained. Keep alert to all manner of subtle, elusive and illicit contacts. Protect emotional lures.

A child born on this day may have a strange, subtle and intriguing temperament, with charm, creative ability and possibly a lean to mysticism.

For Monday, December 11

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather conflicting one, in which the final outcome of entangling affairs depends upon the discretion, logic and rationalization with which menacing matters are managed. With prudence and restraints especially in purely personal contacts there might be success.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a peculiar year in which strange or unorthodox experiences and adventures are indicated. With proper restraint, shrewdness, and the reasonable approach to subtle problems, particularly in intimate relations, there might be some moderate success and satisfaction.

A child born on this day might have some unique or spectacular creative talents, with personal charm or magnetism affecting its artistic career.

"Let's Not Be Beastly"

A truly alarming symptom of the "let's not be beastly to the Germans" frame of mind is seen in an announcement by Herman J. Fischer, president of the Amateur Athletic Union Central association, that Jap and German athletes "will be welcomed" at the next Olympic games, to be held as soon as possible after the war.

"After the last war," says Mr. Fischer, "spectators did not look upon athletes of Germany as men who had started a war against us, but considered them as individuals and respected them for their abilities."

That's lovely. Let's just forget Lidice and the "death march" of the Bataan prisoners, the crematoriums of Maidanek and the execution of the first Tokyo raiders. Let's forget the ghettos and the concentration camps, the hundreds of documented accounts of torture by Japs and Germans.

Mr. Fischer would have us consider that as individuals, Japs and Germans are fine, decent, sportsmanlike chaps. Can it be that we are beginning to forget the sadistic cruelty of some of our individual enemies, or did some of us never believe that it really happened?

Are the English and French, the Poles and the Czechs, the Russians and Chinese to stand up and cheer the German and Jap athletes, forgetting their millions of dead and maimed?

We must live in this world with the enemy peoples. But we are not obliged to credit them with sportsmanship, nor to forego the mild reproof of social ostracism.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

A Needless Disease

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WITH ALL the talk and ballyhoo about vitamins and the revival beginning several decades ago of the custom of giving cod liver oil.

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

to children one would think that such a deficiency disease of children as rickets would have disappeared.

But such is not the case. A group of Baltimore physicians, Drs. Fallis, Jackson, Elliot and Park, by making the most careful and final tests on a group of children unselected and examined consecutively just as they came along, irrespective of whether they were considered healthy or what they were complaining of, showed that 46 per cent of them had some degree of rickets. This was in recent years when the knowledge about sunshine and cod liver oil had, or should have, sunk in.

True, in only about five per cent of the cases was the rickety condition sufficiently advanced to be in itself a menace to health. In 23 per cent it was considered slight and in 18 per cent it was considered moderate in degree.

Danger Still Present

But the lesson is that the danger is always present, and it is still present, and requires the continuation during infancy and childhood of the means of prevention which are proved and which we know work.

The physicians say: "We doubt if slight degrees of rickets, such as we found in many of our children, interfere with health and development, but our studies as a whole afford reason to prolong administration of vitamin D to the age limit of our study, the fourteenth year, and especially indicate the necessary measures to guard against rickets in sick children." Rickets in my young days in the clinics was a prevalent and shocking condition. When I was in London in 1911, that city had the largest and most instructive clinics on children's diseases in the world. It should have because it had the largest, filthiest, most crowded and most disgraceful slums in the world—at least in any city that was supposed to be a part of a great civilized Empire. In these clinics the army of children with rickets was enough to make a strong man put his head in his hands and cry. Bent limbs, deformed limbs, bow legs, knock knees, bulging skulls, knobs all along the ribs, great white, pathetic, staring eyes, or sobbing, crying, painful, restless babies. All this from a disease that five cents worth of knowledge and ten cents worth of cod liver oil would prevent entirely.

There was some talk among the professors as to whether cod liver oil did any good. It used to be used, but how did it act? That is what they wanted to know and shrugged. The teachings on vitamins changed all that, and whatever reservations I have on vitamins in adults, there is no wavering in my conviction that children need plenty of vitamin D in the form of cod liver oil and vitamin C in the form of orange juice.

The old fashioned forms of providing vitamin D for the prevention of rickets are the best—cod liver oil and sunshine. The baby forms its own vitamin D out of sunshine. Primitive people and those who live in a southern climate do not have much rickets. But we coop our children up in houses and schools during the brightest part of the winter day and cover most of their skin even if they do go out. Negroes have more rickets and the severest cases because their skin filters out the vitamin D producing rays in sunshine. They need more cod liver oil than the fair skinned children.

The seasonal incidence of rickets shows the influence of sunshine—highest in February to May, after the short dark days, lowest from September to November.

Local Couple Observes 59th Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Erven Sommers of 865 Franklin st., yesterday celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary at the home, with many of their 10 children, 40 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren calling at the home during the day.

Lifelong residents of Salem and vicinity, the couple were married here Dec. 8, 1885 by Rev. John Brown, Methodist minister. Previously making their home on the Lisbon rd., they have lived in the Franklin st. home for 29 years.

Mrs. Sommers, nearly 75, was born Jan. 28, 1871, in Washington county, near Brownsville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Foltz. She is a member of the Methodist church and the Women's Relief Corps.

Mr. Sommers, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sommers of the Chestnut Grove rd., was born near Albany Oct. 9, 1861. He was employed by the Silver Mfg. Co. for 18 years and later for the same length of time worked for the Deming Co., retiring about nine years ago.

Their 10 children include: Will, Carl, John and Roy Sommers of Salem; Mrs. John Culler, Mrs. Elbert Boughton and Mrs. Milford Hepler of Salem; Mrs. Carl McLaughlin of near Salem; Mrs. Ralph Green of Lisbon, and Mrs. Howard McCarty of Columbiana.

Seven of their grandsons are serving overseas with the armed forces.

Hazel Capel Is Married To Ensign Ruffing

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Capel of N. Ellsworth ave., announce the marriage of their daughter, Hazel, to Ensign Robert C. Ruffing, son of Mrs. Mary Ruffing of N. Howard ave., on Tuesday, Dec. 5 in San Francisco, Calif.

The couple were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony at 4 p. m. in St. Paul's Episcopal church by Dr. Collins.

Ensign Walter Bollinger of Salem and Mrs. Nelson of San Francisco were attendants at the ceremony.

Ensign and Mrs. Ruffing will make their home in San Francisco, where he is temporarily stationed.

The bride, a graduate of Salem High school in 1942, is a student in the pharmacy college at Ohio State university.

Ensign Ruffing, a graduate of Salem High school in 1941, attended Wittenberg college until beginning his Navy training with the Navy V-12 program at Denison university. He graduated last October from Columbia university. He has been in the service since August, 1943.

The couple are making their home at the Washington hotel, Grant ave., at Bush st., in San Francisco.

Couple To Be Honored At Open House Sunday

Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Carl Thomas Bauman, who were married here a week ago, have returned from a honeymoon trip to points of interest in Pennsylvania and New York state and will make their home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frederick Bauman, 263 South Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Bauman will give a reception for their son and wife Sunday afternoon and evening at their home. They will keep "open house" and friends of the couple are invited to call. The bride is the former Miss June Martin.

Miss Krepps and Sailor Wed In California

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar T. Krepps of E. Fifth st., announce the marriage of their daughter, Nada Lee, to Robert R. Brudery, electrician's mate second class, on Nov. 15, in Vallejo, Calif.

Miss Krepps and EM 2/C Brudery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brudery of the Benton rd., were united in marriage at 3:30 p. m. in the First Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Jesse H. Parker.

The bride wore a purple velvet street dress with American Beauty accessories and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The couple were attended by Electrician's Mate First Class and Mrs. E. G. Winning. Mrs. Winning was attired in an aqua street dress with brown accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony a dinner was given at the Casa de Vallejo hotel for the bridal party followed by a reception held by shipmates of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Brudery are graduates of Salem High school, class of 1940 and 1943, respectively.

Mrs. Brudery has returned to make her home with her parents here. The groom is on active duty with the Navy aboard the U.S.S. Bowfin.

Missionary Society Meets at Church

Miss Joyce Laughner and Miss Birdna Berger were welcomed as guests by the Alice Denny Missionary society meeting last night at Trinity Lutheran church.

Mrs. James A. Hinkle was hostess for the session. Mrs. Henry Laughner was in charge of the study topic, "Come Into My Heart Lord Jesus," conducting a candlelight service in which several members took part.

Mrs. G. D. Keister read an interesting letter from her daughter Rachel Lou, on the latter's visit to Komarock mission school in Virginia.

The Jan. 12 meeting will be held at the church with Mrs. Walter Seederly as hostess. Mrs. Celia Greenstein will have the topic, "The Church in Europe."

Birthday Party For Miss Elder Is Surprise

Miss Mary Ann Elder was honored at a surprise birthday party given at the home of Mrs. Beulah Cromwell, E. Fifth st., last evening.

Guests were a group of girls employed at the Columbia Lamp Co. Prizes in games went to Mrs. Wilma Aegerter, Dorothy Cromwell and Donnie Hammond. Miss Elder was presented a number of gifts. Lunch was served by the hostess.

The real-life adventures of a society girl who goes to work in a war plant.

DURATION

Autumn has caught up at last on the weather. The Indian summer that has gone on all through this month has ended—suddenly the trees have become winter-bare.

I still lunch with Eunice and Janie and Doris, but we have given up our outdoor picnics and eat in the Pfaltz cafeteria, sometimes struggling to get our food from the counter and sometimes bringing our sandwiches.

Eunice's romance has prospered. The former secretiveness, it now appears, was due to a little uncertainty on her part as to whether her affections were returned. Now all is well. She is officially engaged, wears a ring, and carries her Norman's picture in her handbag. Almost all of Kerry Kraft's lady workers carry snapshots, or sometimes large "studios," of their boy friends or their husbands, and they will whip them out at the drop of a hat. Most of the pictures are of boys in uniform—the girls wear service stars, American flags, little wooden placards with "Line Busy, My man is in the Army," or "Keep Off, My man is Tough." Every day or two somebody comes along to ask you if you want to "put in on" a present for somebody who's leaving.

Andy has gone, Gus has gone, and Renzie. When we come in now, in the gray light of six-thirty, half of us are girls. A yawning, half asleep crowd, for the most part. I get up early in order to have time to dawdle over breakfast but most of my acquaintances lie abed till the utmost minute, gulp their coffee and arrive at work with "breakfast" in their pockets. Not all. Some of them (incredible thought!) have put up the children's school lunches, seen the Mister off to his job and done half the housework before they come. When they get home they will finish the cleaning, toes together a late dinner for the family, run Junior's shirts through the washing machine, make a few curtains (Moore City standards seem to require new curtains every few weeks) and, I suppose scrub or wax a couple of floors just to fill in the odd moments.

Now, with a good many older women among us, women whose sons are in the Army, there is more talk of "this here war." Not exactly a close following of its news, but a general acceptance of its existence and a good deal of wondering when it is going to get done with.

A number of these oldie women have taken jobs to make empty days pass more quickly, to keep their minds off their anxieties.

"Whenever I ain't busy, I just fill right up," one told me. "Better to work than sit home and cry all day," said another.

Extraordinarily ignorant, some of them, circumscribed in their lives and in their outlook, there is none the less, a friendliness among them which makes their companionship something to which I often find myself looking forward.

When the War and the Duration are both over, when that great and glorious day on which, I understand, everyone is coming in to work plastered, has finally arrived and passed; when Kerry Kraft has at last broken down its inhibitions and fired me, I suppose I shall go back to that world in which there are no "five-minutes" and no whistles, no time clocks to punch and, alas, no bonus checks.

Gradually, I suppose, Moore City and Kerry Kraft will fall back among other pasts, to be remembered as inaccurately as I now recall the past that was Antibes and laziness, the past that was England and horses, the past that was childhood. It seems incredible now, but, knowing one's capacity for forget-

THERE'S MORE TO REMEMBER THAN PEARL HARBOR !

Sure we remember the sneak attack of the Japs on Pearl Harbor—that infamous treachery we shall never forget.

We were shocked—and made fighting mad, again, by the horrible story of this “death march” on Bataan.

That's the enemy we're still facing in the Pacific. Troops who care nothing for human decency—who know only how to butcher the prisoners they take and to keep on torturing them as long as they can suffer.

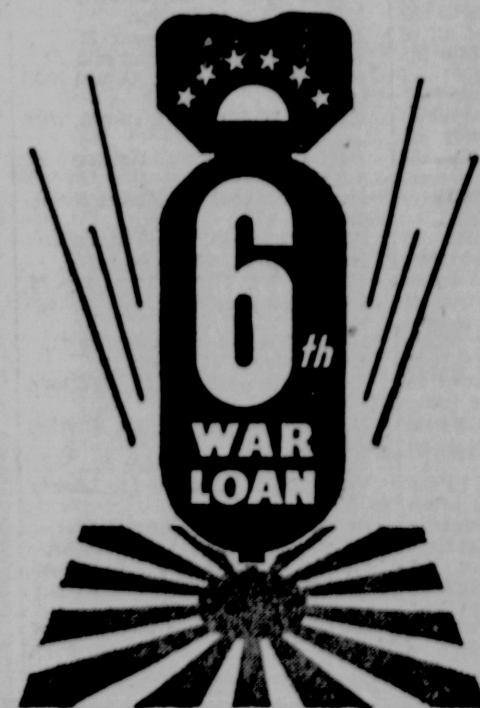

We've got to stop them. We're going to stop them.

We're going to teach all such fanatics an unforgettable lesson. They'll remember Pearl Harbor, too.

But this means that none of us can sit back and take it easy. It takes nerves and steel to fight this war—and it takes money—a lot of money. We've got to fight these demons in every corner of the Pacific—that means ships, planes and guns in an endless flow. So let's buy that extra $100 bond right now.

Help scrap the Japs—with your bonds!

Columbiana Nips Salem 40-39 In Thrilling, Hard Contest

Newell Leads Team To Win As Appedisan Sparks Salem With 17 Points And Spirit

Displaying a pair of evenly matched, experienced and hard-fighting basketball clubs, Salem and Columbiana met last night on the Clippers' floor and battled it out. It was a nip-and-tuck contest all the way with the veteran Clipper squad coming out on the top-side of the 40-39 margin.

The lead changed hands six times during the game and things were all tied up on four occasions. Columbiana led 14-10 at the end of the first period after stepping into a 7-0 lead in the first two minutes of play. Salem passed the Clippers in the second quarter and led 24-20 as the half closed.

The final two periods were thrilling, the one-point margin that spelled defeat.

The game was a battle of offenses more than defenses. In spite of the fact that Coach John Cabas employed a slick four-man zone with Bill Newell playing man-to-man, the Quaker offense broke consistently into the under-basket positions for their shooting. Of the 18 field goals made by Salem, all were from inside the foul line. Few long shots were attempted.

Columbiana broke Quaker defenses regularly, also. The Clippers nabbed 13 of their buckets underneath and only potted a pair from away out.

Ball handling by both squads was sloppy in places and the game had a touch of the usual early season roughness. Twenty-two fouls were called by Referee Al Sebastian against Salem and eight against Columbiana.

Cabas' defense accomplished one thing very well, and that was the important feat of holding Center Walt Brian practically shotless and with only one basket. Brian's two points, mark the lowest score he has posted since starting varsity play three seasons ago.

Hollinger, on the other hand, performed effectively at center for the Clippers and was able, by efficient use of his six feet four inches, to tally the lion's share of the Columbiana points. He notched 13, four more than the second high Clipper, Bill Newell, who turned in a bang-up ball game.

Unaccustomed to and slightly handicapped by the smaller and more compact Columbiana gym, Salem got off to a bad start. However, Guard Jim Appedisan turned in one of the finest shows ever seen from a Quaker lead and kept the locals in the game most of the way.

Fouls unquestionably settled the game. Salem notched three of eight tries, while the Clippers cashed in on 10 of 21 attempts and turned one chance down to take the ball out-of-bounds in the final seconds.

Freer than usual, because of the four-man squeeze play being worked on Brian, Appedisan was able to break through the Clipper defenses around the foul circle and dump in seven field goals. He also collected the only four throws Salem made, to total 17 points.

Francis Lanney, though far from his usual form, played effectively and scored eight points, all of them in the initial half. Ray Kelly also got eight and figured greatly in Salem's control of the ball until the final quarter, when he was ejected on fouls.

Plenty of credit is due Milt Schaeffer. The lanky senior picked up four points in the first half and did a good job on defense. His opponent, Larry Keck, got only two from the floor and cashed in on three free throws.

By far the most outstanding Clipper on the floor was Bill Newell. The husky Junior was superb on ball-handling and in carrying out his one-man assignment on defense. He sparked the Clipper offensive in the first half, when he collected all of his nine points and turned in a top defensive ball game later on.

Harry Hollinger's height proved his main potency. He controlled the backboards at both ends of the floor and collected his 13 points, five in the first half and eight in the final, almost entirely from rebound shots.

Harry Case was ineffectual offensively, getting only one field goal and two fouls, but managed to be troublesome to Salem's offense all the way. The shifty guard was constantly on the alert for poor passes and several times intercepted throws that made a telling difference in the outcome. His defensive mate last night was Keith Laughlin, whose steady, aggressive work was a main factor in the Clipper win.

Appedisan's big show came in the final period, when he tallied seven of Salem's nine points. Breaking loose twice from would-be blockers, the short but husky Senior laid dashed down the floor and dumped in two-pointers. The final shot, just seconds before the gun ended the game, brought the Salem total to

LEETONIA LOSES FIRST TO LISBON

McBride's Crew Outclassed 34-24, But Give Blue Devils Worries

LISBON, Dec. 9.—Although never headed in the contest, Lisbon's Blue Devils had a close call with the Leetonia High school cagers here last night, but the locals won out, 34-24, after some anxious moments.

Sparked by Bill Wetzel, who chalked up 14 points, the Blue Devils led 14-13 at the close of the first half. Leetonia spurted momentarily in the third frame but trailed 24-19 as the period ended.

Ten points to five in favor of the Blue Devils clinched the final period and put all Leetonia threats beyond hope of success.

Joe Jeswald topped the visitors with six points.

Clipper Reserves Defeat Salem 41-14

A well-polished reserve outfit from Columbiana romped over the Clipper court with the Salem reserves last night to chalk up their second win of the season, 41-14.

Salem made only six field goals on the Clipper second stringers while the victors piled up 12.

Bob Hum led the winners with nine points and Thomas followed closely with eight.

BASEBALL IN HIGH SCHOOLS IS GIVEN BOOST BY MINORS

(By Associated Press)

BUFFALO, Dec. 9.—High school baseball will be stimulated by touring clinics of former big league stars and its players will be protected from contracts making them ineligible for school sports if recommendations accepted at yesterday's closing minor league convention are adopted by the major leagues.

A Pacific Coast proposal by President Clarence Rowland to permit farming out young players to semi-pro leagues as a war time measure was withdrawn after meeting strong opposition from all quarters.

No action was taken on the resolution on pro football but a committee was appointed by President William G. Brannan to confer and report next year. Frank J. Shaughnessy was named chairman serving with Arthur Ehler and J. Kemp Bartlett, secretary of the Baltimore club who proposed the action. The resolution called for the pro gridgers to cease "unwarranted competition" in late season.

The minors voted to set up a fund of not more than $5,000 pending big league action, to support clinics and provide rule books and a baseball film for school distribution. George Trautman, president of the American association, said the committee's investigation showed there was 40 per cent less high school baseball now than five years ago.

• THE THEATER

The technicolor musical, "Rainbow Island," starring Dorothy Lamour with Eddie Bracken, Gil Lamb and Barry Sullivan, will be seen at the State Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

With only enough plot to hold together several new songs, some clever comedy routines and dance sequences, the picture gives Miss Lamour another opportunity to wear her famous sarong as she rescues three shipwrecked American sailors from the unfriendly natives of a South Seas island.

Portraying the Boston dentist who a century ago discovered anaesthesia, Joel McCrea is featured in "The Great Moment," showing at the State Wednesday only.

Alan Marshal and Laraine Day head the cast of a comedy-romance, "Bride by Mistake," which will be the State's Thursday, Friday and Saturday attraction.

The murder mystery, "Dead Man's Eyes," starring Lon Chaney with Jean Parker and Paul Kelly, and musical, "The Reckless Age," featuring Gloria Jean, make up the Grand's Sunday-Monday double bill.

Two early hits, "Tiger Shark" with Edward G. Robinson and Richard Arlen, and "Walking Dead," starring Boris Karloff, will be seen on a double feature at the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Grand's two-picture program

Thursday through Saturday includes a western, "Bordertown Trail," with Sunset Carson and Smiley Burnette; and "Unwritten Code," story of a Yank MP in a Nazi prison camp, featuring Ann Savage and Tom Neal.

Farmers Week Planned Again At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Dec. 9.—Ohio State university announced today the 33rd annual Farmers' week would be held on the campus Jan. 30-31 and Feb. 1.

George B. Crane, assistant agriculture extension director, said wartime food production and postwar farm stabilization would be emphasized at the gathering. A record attendance of 13,174 was set at the 1940 Farmers' week.

Speed Prisoner Mail

NEW YORK — Newly captured prisoners of war in Germany will receive their first mail from home two or three months earlier than previously because of new plans for forwarding arranged by the Provost Marshal General's office, it was announced by the New York Chapter, American Red Cross. Under the new plan, the postoffice will accept mail for a prisoner of war immediately after official information that he has been captured by Germany is received. Previously, relatives in this country were compelled to wait until they received his permanent camp address.

• SO THEY SAY

What this country needs is a good liberal education. And then it needs to have everybody have it.

—Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president U. of Chicago.

The next war, if it occurs, will not be conducted by fleets of ships and planes but by long-range bombs and rockets, which are at the threshold of untold development and expansion. It will be a war of long-range artillery duels across the oceans.

—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

To restore our economic equipment will require perhaps 10 years of effort and we shall not have reentered our industries for four or five years.

—French Minister of Information Pierre-Henri Teitgen.

Within the past 90 days we have had to increase by 25 per cent our estimate of the production we believed we would need to fight the Japs after Germany is defeated.

—Lt.-Gen. Breckenhoff, Army Service Forces chief.

Salvaging Workers

Streamlined psychiatric methods salvaged 50 per cent of a group of workers who were cracking up mentally and enabled them to go back to their jobs in vital war industries. Among the men salvaged were not only psychoneurotic patients but some so mentally sick that they would normally be hospital inmates for life. The fact that these patients could, with psychiatric treatment, continue as productive workers rather than as community charges or liabilities, has significance for post-war planning.
